General Comment

I can and have already planned my own retirement and am currently enjoying it by using a combination of existing 401k, IRA's, company pension plan and Social Security.

As I followed the existing rules for years to have a comfortable retirement, I expect the government to keep their hands off the money and rules that I and many others have counted on.

Do not infringe on my ability to plan my own retirement options or change the rules midstream, I can plan better myself!
