General Comment

For the longest time Chiropractors have been treated as second class citizens by the Medical and Insurance establishments. The new health bill puts Chiropractors on an equal footing by the non-discrimination clauses in this bill. Now the AMA and the Insurance companies are trying to get around this non-discrimination clause. It sounds like some groups do not want to play the game with the NEW rules, and want to keep the status quo. I know that my business will change as a result of the new health bill, so why should the AMA and the Insurance companies be aloud to keep their old play book? Isn't the old play book the reason why health costs and insurance rates keep going up?
