How dare these so called "religious" men in dresses in their pathetic attempts to control people try to limit women's health care!!!!!!

When will they EVER get honest with themselves and admit that they are sociopaths who need serious help. Why, in heaven's name, do they need to try and control women and their health care when they cannot even control their own selves, esp. their darkest self? As with Hitler, institutionalized evil comes to mind when I think of the Catholic Church.

Women need health care. Religious institutions such as the Catholic Church have no place in determining that health care.
