General Comment

No organization or individual should be force to support or perform a so-called service if it is against religious principles. I am requesting that their be respect for individual and group religious principles. Religious freedom is a fundamental right under the US Constitution. As a Catholic, I take a mandate requiring organizations or individuals to perform or provide insurance coverage for what they consider immoral medical procedures a direct attack on the Catholic Church. Practicing Catholics are not even given second-class status in this country under the Democratic Party. Even Jesus Christ himself would not meet the very limited opt-out limitations of the HHS mandate. I personally think the people behind this mandate are trying to strangle the Catholic Church.
