The 2002 rules should be changed. Not only has technology dramatically changed, the number of notices and documentation required to send to our plan members has dramatically increased. It's becoming a full time position to just manage the required notices, not to mention the cost to U.S. employers to comply. I strongly urge a change in the rules to allow broader use of electronic notifications. We have no problem with giving employees the option of requesting a paper copy. Most employees have become accustomed to going to the Company's website for information, so I do not believe a change in the rules to allow broader electronic communication would cause an undue hardship for our valued employees. Thank you for your consideration.
