General Comment

My role as a fiduciary involves educating my clients and putting myself in their shoes. Limiting my ability to help my clients limits Americans' abilities to retire comfortably. By handcuffing us as financial advisors and limiting our product selection, you're affectively harming the communities you're trying to protect. I have clients of various backgrounds who have worked hard to save for retirement and are now scared that they will run out of money in retirement. With the current regulations, I can protect my clients while looking out for their best interests. Please withdraw the DOL's proposal to ensure that we can continue to help Americans succeed financially.

I'm writing to express my concerns with the Department of Labor's (DOL) Retirement Security rule proposal. I believe this proposal will harm millions of low- and middle-income households by limiting access to personalized financial guidance and advice.

As a financial professional, I'm already required to act in the best interests of my clients under the SEC's Regulation Best Interest (Reg BI) and, when considering annuities, applicable state laws that impose similar requirements. Together, these regulations ensure that my clients and I can focus on working together to build responsible savings and investments habits.

This proposal has the potential to upend our existing, comprehensive structure by limiting our ability to help our clients safeguard their savings in a manner of their choosing. In particular, the previous iteration of a substantially similar DOL rule resulted in a meaningful reduction in services offered to millions of low- and middle-income households. I am concerned that the resurrection of this rule is expected to exacerbate the racial wealth gap by roughly 20% due to a disproportionate impact on Black and Hispanic communities.

I hope the DOL will consider the harm the previous fiduciary rule had on communities, as well as the changes in securities regulations that came with the adoption of Reg BI and state insurance suitability rules and withdraw the Retirement Security rule proposal.
