Office of Workers' Compensation Programs
Division of Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation

Outreach Event

November 5, 2019

Q: Were you or an ill family member employed at a Department of Energy facility, with an atomic weapons employer, a beryllium vendor, or in the uranium mining industry?

Q: Do you or a member of your family have an illness such as cancer, beryllium disease, or another condition, which you think may have been caused by toxic exposure while working at one of the types of facilities listed above?

IF YOU ANSWERED YES TO BOTH QUESTIONS:

You may be eligible for benefits under the Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program Act (EEOICPA)

The U.S. Department of Labor's Division of Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation Program's Resource Center staff will hold a one day Energy Outreach Event on Tuesday, November 5, 2019. Department of Labor and Resource Center staff will be available to answer questions on the EEOICPA and provide claim filing assistance.

The EEOICPA provides lump-sum compensation and medical benefits to current and former workers whose illness is a result of working at a facility involved in nuclear weapons production. Covered illnesses include, but are not limited to, radiation-induced cancer, chronic beryllium disease, beryllium sensitivity, chronic silicosis, or an illness due to exposure to toxic substances. Certain survivors of eligible employees may also be entitled to compensation.

The EEOICPA is administered by the Department of Labor's Office of Workers' Compensation Programs, Division of Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation.
